Parent Teacher Conferences

3/24/22 and 3/25/22

The best parent-teacher conferences follow a set agenda. The teacher may have examples of your child's schoolwork, any relevant benchmark scores, student data notebooks, and/or observations of the child's class participation, academic work, and social growth to share with you.

As a parent, it's helpful to prepare some questions for the teacher conference about anything that may have raised a concern during the previous few months of school. Again, you may meet with the teacher in person, phone call, or schedule a ZOOM or Google Meets session.
